

1 – CAMBIO DE TERCIO

For sheer quality it's hard to beat Cambio de Tercio on Old Brompton Road. The food is simply great. It's no wonder it won an award from the Spanish Ministry of Agriculture, Fishing and Food as the best Spanish restaurant anywhere outside Spain.

2 – MINT

Mint is unbeatable. It's definitely the only one of its kind – with such exquisite taste and its charming eclecticism. The shop's ever-changing collection is of a very high standard and is a great example of what this area has to offer.

CHRISTINA SCHMIDT, ONE HALF OF THE TEAM THAT BROUGHT US THE TREASURE HOUSE OF SCANDINAVIAN DESIGN THAT IS SKANDIUM, TAKES US ON A WALK AROUND HER BROMPTON.

3 – THE V&A

I love to slip into the V&A whenever things get too much and I need a breather. It's always so quiet and peaceful. The museum has such a versatile collection, always interesting and exhilarating – I particularly like the Korean room in the Samsung gallery. The exquisite work and excellent craftsmanship fill me with joy every time I visit.

4 – THE V&A READING ROOMS

The V&A Reading Rooms on Cromwell Road is a must for any book lover. It's so cute and personable. What better way to spend a lazy afternoon than with a glass of wine and a good book? Bookthrift on Thurloe Street is equally interesting but for very different reasons – it's this variety that makes the area so interesting.

5 – PIERRE'S BAR

When it comes to food Brompton has so much to offer it's hard to know where to begin. One of my favourite places is Pierre's Bar at La Brasserie on Brompton Road. It's heaving with fellow fans on Sunday afternoon, making it the ideal people-watching venue.

6 – SANTA MARIA NOVELLA

I always finish a walk in the area by popping into Santa Maria Novella on Walton Street. I leave this cute little perfumery clutching a small bottle of something lovely, and quietly thanking London for blessing us with its choice and variety.

BROMPTON TREASURE TRAIL